GLOSSARIAL INDEX

TO

THE PRINTED ENGLISH LITERATURE

OF

THE THIRTEENTH CENTURY.

BY

HERBERT ÇOLERIDGE.

LONDON:

TRÜBNER & CO., 60, PATERNOSTER ROW.

MDCCCLIX.

PREFACE.

THE present publication may be considered as the foundation-stone of the Historical and Literary portion of the Philological Society's proposed English Dictionary. Its appearance in a separate form has been necessitated by the nature of the scheme, on which that work is being constructed. Without entering into details, which will be found in the Society's published Prospectus,* it will be sufficient for the present purpose to mention, that the raw material of the Dictionary, the words and authorities, are being brought together by a number of independent collectors, for whom it is consequently necessary to provide some common standard of comparison, whereby each may ascertain what he is to extract, and what to reject, from the author, or work, be has undertaken. This standard for works of earlier date than 1526 is furnished by the following pages, which contain an alphabetical inventory of every word found in the printed English literature of the 13th century. As, however, a mere index verborum would but inadequately fulfil its object, a certain amount of explanatory and etymological matter bas been added, which it is boped may render the work more generally interesting and useful tban could otherwise have been the case. It is only proper to add that English literature, as distinguished from Semi-Saxon, is assumed to commence about the middle of the 13th century.

All words are arranged under their modern forms, where such exist, but the older forms, except where utterly unimportant, are always noticed. The more remarkable of these older forms are also entered in the Glossary in their alphabetical order, with cross references to that under which the word is discussed. Thus under 'Hymn' and 'Isle' will be found the forms 'ympne' and 'ydle;' but 'ympne' and 'ydle' appear also in their proper places in the iv PREFACE.

Glossary. Obsolete words are of course entered as they are spelt in the passage whence they are taken, a rule which applies as much to different forms of the same word, as to different words. As to the etymological matter, nothing further as a general rule has been attempted than to indicate the nearest cognate, or cognates, of the particular word; but it has not been thought necessary, or desirable, to load the Glossary with illustrations of this nature in very simple cases. I have to thank Hensleigh Wedgwood, Esq., for many kind and valuable suggestions in this part of my work.

My best thanks are also due to the Rev. J. Eastwood, the Rev. W. H. Herford, to my colleague Mr F. J. Furnivall, and to Messrs M'Ewan and Harrison, for their valuable assistance in the formation of separate indexes to several of the works comprised in this Glossary. Their respective shares in the work are pointed out in the List of Books and Editions, which will be found in page v.

And I cannot terminate this brief preface without expressing my deep sense of the obligations I am under to Sir F. Madden, not merely for the help of his invaluable editions of Lazamon and Havelok, without which this work would have been far less complete than it now is, but also for much kind personal advice and assistance, which probably few, if any, living philologists beside himself would have been competent to bestow. It only remains for me to add that, although no pains have been spared to render the book as complete as possible, I cannot but expect that some omissions and errors will be discovered, more especially as the largest and most laborious portion of the work was carried on during a long period of ill health. I shall feel very grateful to those who discover any addenda, if they will kindly communicate them to me for insertion hereafter in the Dictionary itself.

HERBERT COLERIDGE.

LIST OF BOOKS AND EDITIONS

REFERRED TO.

- . All the following pieces are cited by the number of the verse, except where the contrary is expressly mentioned.
- Havelok the Dane. Edited by Sir F. Madden, for the Roxburgh Club. (By Mr H. Coleridge.)
- Geste of Kyng Horn. Edited by M. Michel, for the Bannatyne Club. (By Mr H. Coleridge.)
 - (N.B. The text of this poem in the second vol. of Ritson's Metrical Romances is taken from a later MS., and differs considerably from the Bannatyne text.)
- Kyng Alysaunder. In Weber's Metrical Romances, vol. I. (By Mr H. Coleridge.)
- The Land of Cokaygne. In Hickes's Thesaurus, vol. I. p. 231. (By Mr Furnivall.)
- The Life of St Margaret (cited by stanzas), Metrical Version of the Athanasian Creed, pp. 224, 233. (By Mr Furnivall.)
- The Owl and Nightingale. Edited by Mr Wright for the Percy Society. (By Mr Furnivall and Mr H. Coleridge.)
- Fragment on Popular Science, from the Early English Metrical Lives of Saints, in Mr Wright's 'Popular Treatises on Science.' (By Mr H. Coleridge.)
- Specimens of Lyric Poetry, temp. Edw. I. Edited by Mr Wright, for the Percy Society. (By Mr M'Ewan.)
- Various Pieces in the Reliquiæ Antiquæ (cited by volume and page). (By Mr H. Coleridge.)
- Political Songs, temp. Hen. III. and Edw. I. Edited by Mr Wright, for the Camden Society. (By the Rev. W. H. Herford.)
- Ritson's Ancient Songs, Class I. Most of these songs, however, are contained in the Specimens of Lyric Poetry, temp. Ed. I., and are quoted from that collection. (By Mr Harrison.)
- Religious Songs, printed at the end of the Percy Society's edition of the Owl and Nightingale. (By Mr H. Coleridge.)
- Dialogue between the Soul and Body. In the Appendix to Mapes's Poems, edited by Mr Wright, for the Camden Society, p. 334. (By the Rev. J. Eastwood.)

The Early English Psalter. Edited by the Rev. J. Stevenson, for the Surtees' Society. Cited by the psalm and verse. (By Mr H. Coleridge.)

Robert of Gloucester's Chronicle. Ed. Hearne (2nd ed., 1810). Cited by the page. (By Mr. H. Coleridge.)

The Legend of St Brandan. Edited by Mr Wright, for the Percy Society. (By the Rev. J. Eastwood.)

The Life and Martyrdom of Thomas Beket. Edited by Mr Black, for the Percy Society. (By the Rev. J. Eastwood.)

(Owing to the gross inaccuracy of the marginal numbering in the printed edition of this poem, it has been found necessary to go over the whole afresh, and to cite according to the amended reckoning. The following data will assist the reader:—The first error occurs in page 64, where the line numbered 1280 should be 1282. The second occurs in page 100, where ten lines are dropped, and 1961 is printed for 1973, the true number. The third will be found in page 110, where 2049 is made to succeed 2139, and after this, of course, the confusion is hopeless. The exact number of lines in the poem is 2515, while the printed numbers give only 2398. Readers are therefore requested to renumber their copies from page 64 onwards, before attempting to verify the references in the Glossary.)

The following pieces will be printed in the second part of the Philological Society's Transactions for 1858, and are therefore included in the Glossary. I am indebted to the kindness of my friend and colleague, Mr Furnivall, for the loan of his transcripts.

A Moral Ode. MS. Egerton, 613. Cited by stanzas.

(Hickes printed Extracts from this Ode, in his Thesaurus, vol. I. p. 222, from one of the Digby MSS.; but his text is somewhat different from that of the Egerton MS., and omits nine stanzas contained in the latter.)

A Sermon (cited by stanzas),
Signa Ante Judicium,
A Fragment on the Seven Sins,
The Ten Commandments,
Christ on the Cross.
A Poem on Miracles, containing a Tale of an Oxford Student,
The Fall and Passion,
The Legends of St Dunstan,
    St Katherine.
    St Andrew,
    St Lucy,
                                                    from MS. Harl. 2277.
    St Swithin,
    St Edward,
    Pilate,
    Judas Iscariot,

A few references will also be found to the Manuel des Pecches of Robert Brunne, now being edited by Mr Furnivall, for the Roxburgh Club, but the proof-sheets came into my hands too late to allow of anything like a complete analysis of the language of the poem.

PROPOSAL FOR THE PUBLICATION

OF

A NEW ENGLISH DICTIONARY,

BY THE

PHILOLOGICAL SOCIETY.

A YEAR ago the Philological Society determined to form a collection of words hitherto unregistered in the Dictionaries of Johnson and Richardson, with a view of publishing a supplementary volume, which might be used with either of those A committee was appointed, circulars were issued. and the public as well as members of the Society were invited to take part in the work. The result has been, that upwards of 100 collectors have voluntarily given their services, and more than 160 works and parts of works have been submitted to examination upon a uniform system. The success of the experiment was so encouraging, that some members of the Society, unwilling that the energies thus brought into play should be expended in the production of a work necessarily of a subordinate and imperfect character, strongly urged the propriety of extending the scheme to the compilation of a new and more Scientific Dictionary than any at present existing. This proposal was, after much deliberation, entertained and accepted, and the Philological Society, at its meeting of January 7, 1858, resolved that, instead of the Supplement to the standard English Dictionaries, then in course of preparation by the Society's Unregistered Words Committee, a New Dictionary of the English Language should be prepared under the authority of the Philological Society. The work has been placed by the Society in the hands of two Committees; the one Literary and Historical, consisting of the Very Rev. the Dean'of Westminster, F. J. Furnivall, Esq., and H. Coleridge, Esq., Secretary; and the other Etymological, consisting of Hensleigh Wedgwood, Esq., and Professor Malden; and the former of these Committees will edit the Dictionary and direct the general working of the scheme. Arrangements for the publication of the work in 5s. Parts have been made with Messrs. Trübner and Co., of Paternoster Row.

The object of the present Prospectus is twofold: first, to lay before the public, as concisely as possible, the main outlines of the plan upon which the New Dictionary will be constructed, and to ask from that public such further help in the reading and noting of books as will enable the plan to be carried out satisfactorily; and, secondly, to furnish our contributors with such a system of rules as will direct them to the principal points to be attended to in perusing and analysing the books they may undertake, and also ensure general uniformity in the results arrived at. It will of course be understood that we cannot, within the limits of a mere circular like the present, do more than state the conclusions at which we have arrived, without attempting to enter into any arguments in their behalf, or any refutations by anticipation of possible objections. The whole subject will be most naturally and conveniently discussed in the preface to the work itself, and we must reserve our defence, if any be thought necessary, until that appears. Those who may wish for further satisfaction as to our lexicographical creed, than what can be gathered from this Prospectus, are referred to the Dean of Westminster's Essay "On some Deficiencies in our English Dictionaries," which leaves no important portion of the subject unnoticed.

I. We may begin then by stating that, according to our view, the first requirement of every lexicon is, that it should contain every word occurring in the literature of the language it professes to illustrate. We entirely repudiate the theory, which converts the lexicographer into an arbiter of style, and leaves it in his discretion to accept or reject words according to his private notions of their comparative elegance or inelegance. In the case of the dead languages, such as Greek, no lexicon of any pretensions would omit the απαξ λεγόμενα of Lycophron, or the experimental coinages of Aristophanes and the other comedians; and as we are unable to perceive any difference between a dead and living language, so far as lexicographical treatment is concerned, it follows that we cannot refuse to admit words into the Dictionary which may not be sanctioned by the usage of more than one writer, or be conformable in their structure to our ideas of taste. ever worthless they may be in themselves, they testify to a tendency of language, and on this account only, if on no other, have a distinct and appreciable value.

II. We admit as authorities all English books, except such as are devoted to purely scientific subjects, as treatises on clectricity, mathematics, &c., and works written subsequently to the Reformation for the purpose of illustrating provincial dialects. As soon as a standard language has been formed, which in England was the case after the Reformation, the lexicographer is bound to deal with that alone; before that epoch, however, the English language was in reality another name for the sum of a number of local languages, all exhibiting the English type as opposed to the Saxon, and therefore all equally entitled to notice as authorities in the formation of a Dictionary. At the same time we reserve to ourselves a discretion of deciding, in doubtful cases, what shall or shall not be deemed a Dictionary authority,—a discretion which from special causes may often be required and usefully exercised without at all infringing on the generality of the principles we have just laid down.

III. The limits of quotation in point of time are next to be fixed. We have decided to commence with the commencement of English, or, more strictly speaking, with that definite appearance of an English type of language, distinct from the preceding semi-Saxon, which took place about the end of the reign of Henry III. Of course this, like every other line of demarcation, is hard to draw, and occasions a few apparent incongruities, some of the books included in our thirteenth-century list retaining much more of their Saxon matrix than others; but on the whole it would be difficult, if not impossible, to fix the limit lower down without excluding books which it would be most undesirable to lose.

IV. In the treatment of individual words the historical principle will be uniformly adopted;—that is to say, we shall endeavour to show more clearly and fully than has hitherto been done, or even attempted, the development of the sense or various senses of each word from its etymology and from each other, so as to bring into clear light the common thread which unites all together. The greatest care will also be taken to fix as accurately as possible, by means of appropriate quotations, the epoch of the appearance of each word in the language, and, in the case of archaisms and obsolete words, of their disappearance also; and the limits of the various phases of meaning exhibited by each individual will be defined, as far as possible, in like manner and by the same means.

V. Lastly, in the Etymological department of our work, where, as is well known, there is the most pressing need for improvement, we shall, in addition to the proximate origin of each word, exhibit several of its affinities with the related languages for the sake of comparison, always including that language which seems to present the radical element contained in the word in its oldest form. Examples illustrating our meaning will be found in the sequel, pp. 12–17.

The same principle of volunteer cooperation will apply to this portion of our work as to the other, and the labours of any contributors who may be willing to send in suggestions as to difficult etymologies, or emendations of those already in the Dietionaries, or lists of words illustrating any philological laws, such as those of letter-change, will receive every consideration.

And such contributions as the Etymological Committee shall doem worthy of insertion, in cases where there is room for a fair difference of opinion, although they may not themselves adopt the views therein propounded, will in all cases be distinguished by the initials of the contributors. It may be added here, that the following gentlemen have kindly consented to aid the Etymological Committee by their advice and assistance in doubtful cases:—The Lord Bishop of St. David's, Sir F. Madden, Professor Key, Professor Goldstücker, Thos. Watts, Esq., Rev. J. Davies, Professor Siegfried, Dr. Halbertsma, M. de Haan Hettema, &c.

We must now recur to the Literary and Historical portion of our work, in order to state the points on which we ask for The periods into which our language may, for philological purposes, be most conveniently divided, are three:—1. From its rise, cir. 1250, to the Reformation—of which the appearance of the first printed English translation of the New Testament in 1526 may be taken as the beginning. 2. From the Reformation to Milton (1526-1674, the date of Milton's death). 3. From Milton to our own day. As a general rule, we desire to give instances of the use of every word in each of these periods, or in as many of them as it occurs in, besides noting all changes of sense, &c.,—though, considering the unequal importance of different words, we reserve to ourselves the discretion of diminishing or increasing the number of quotations to be given under any word. In order, therefore, to carry out our desire, and recollecting that we have to catch every word on its first appearance in our literature. we shall shortly issue an alphabetical list of all A.D. 1250-1300 words. We shall then ask our contributors to read among them all the printed books of the remainder of the first period, viz. 1300-1526, the fourteenth-century literature being taken first; each contributor giving us extracts containing both the new and the obsolete words occurring in the particular books taken by him that fall within our rules hereinafter given.

For the period 1526 to Milton, we shall ask each contributor for a quotation for every word, phrase, idiom, &c., in his book that does not occur in the Concordances to the Bible and Shakspere, or that to the Bible only, if the Shakspere Concordance be unprocurable*. It is true that this plan will fail to give the earliest use of those few words which, though used in the Bible or Shakspere, yet were first used by some of the earlier writers of the interval between 1526 and Shakspere; but the universal accessibility of Cruden's Concordance, as one of the bases of comparison, presents advantages too great, as our former experience has taught us, to be lightly overlooked; and we must trust to the vigilance of our contributors to supply this unavoidable defect in our scheme.

For the period from Milton to the present day, we shall after a time issue a list of Burke's words, and ask for a quotation from the modern writers for all words, &c. not in the list.

In the mean time, however, contributors who may prefer to work at the 18th or 19th century literature will render us invaluable service by a careful analysis of the works of any of the principal writers, extracting all remarkable words, and all passages which contain definitions or explanations, or which, by reason of their intrinsic merit, are specially eligible as illustrative quotations. We have not given a list of these writers, as their names must be familiar to all; but Wordsworth, Scott, Coleridge, Southey, Tennyson, Ruskin, Macaulay, and Froude may be mentioned as pre-eminently important.

And in each period we shall ask all our contributors to give us extracts for words now obsolete, in order that we may, by comparing such extracts, ascertain the last appearance in our literature of every such obsolete word.

From the foregoing it will be seen that the work in which our contributors may help us at once is—

- I. Agreeing to take a 1300-1526 book, and reading it till our Index for the period 1250-1300 comes out; then making the extracts for the new words, &c. in it.
- II. Agreeing to take any work comprised in the period 1526-Milton, and extracting forthwith all passages containing words, senses of words, and phrases, not in the Bible or Shakspere.

III. Agreeing to take one of the principal 18th or 19th century writers, and extracting words and passages in the manner mentioned above.

And further we shall gladly receive, 1st, any well-considered definitions of words; and 2nd, any well-considered distinctions of words from the synonyms with which they are likely to be confounded.

A few practical remarks may be added in conclusion. Two great obstacles have to be encountered during the early part of the work, which nothing but the earnest cooperation of those who have knowledge, and of those also who have leisure, will suffice to overcome. In the first place, the difficulties of the language, in which the early romances, &c. are written, will, we fear, operate to deter many from rendering assistance, whose services would prove invaluable if employed on an Elizabethan author; and secondly, the excessive rarity of most of the books themselves, which form our authorities for this period, will exclude nearly all who cannot read them in the British Museum or the Bodleian, or some other large library, where alone they are likely to be found. Many poems and other pieces, a collation of which would be invaluable for such a work as this, still lie hid in MS. Others have been brought out by printing clubs of exclusive constitution, such as the Roxburghe and Abbotsford, or for private circulation only, and might, for all that the public in general is the better for them, just as well have remained in MS., being of course utterly unprocurable, except in great libraries, and not always there. We cannot but express an earnest hope that those who are qualified to assist us in this portion of our task (and there are many) will not hesitate to come forward at once, and save us from the necessity of delegating that, which no cfforts of our own will enable us to accomplish by ourselves, to persons less fitted for this peculiar work.

We have endeavoured to include in the foregoing remarks all such information respecting the plan and theory of our Dictionary as may enable the public to judge of its pretensions and claims to support. Mere typographical and editorial details respecting the size of the work, or the arrangement of the articles, must be made the subjects of a special communication: it would be obviously premature to speak decidedly on such points now, or to bind ourselves down to adopt a certain form, which subsequent experience might lead us to modify with advantage. All that is desired at present is to enlist the sympathies of the public on behalf of the work, and to bring, as far as possible, the scattered learning and energy which exists plentifully enough in this country, if it can be but effectually reached and addressed, to bear upon a common, and we may add national, object. At present it is abundantly clear, that England does not possess a Dictionary worthy of her language; nor, as long as lexicography is confined to the isolated efforts of a single man, is it possible that such a work should be written. We do but follow the example of the Grimms, when we call upon Englishmen to come forward and write their own Dictionary for themselves, and we trust that our invitation may be responded to still more effectually than theirs has been.

RULES AND DIRECTIONS FOR COLLECTORS,

as agreed upon by the Literary and Historical Committee.

[N.B. Etymological Contributors are referred to the separate Rules and Directions given in pages 11 & 12.]

Three Bases of Comparison are recognized:—

- 1 & 2. The Lists of Words for the earliest and the modern periods that the Committee issue.
- 3. The Concordances to the Bible and Shakspere for the period from the Reformation to Milton.

The following rules apply, mutatis mutandis, to all classes of Collectors alike.

RULES.

I. Extract from your Book quotations containing all the words, Phrases, idioms, and varieties of form in it that are now

- obsolete, and all not occurring in your Bases of Comparison. [The former branch of the rule secures our having the latest, and the latter the earliest, usage of every word.]
- a. Of compound words, include all permanent or wedded compounds, as 'downfall,' 'sunbeam,' &c.; those which illustrate some grammatical figure (as tmesis), or which by reason of their metaphorical use or otherwise convey an idea different from that which the mere composition of their separate parts would give rise to, as "jaekstraw," "nipfarthing," "bedsister," "timehonowed," "head-strong."
- β. Under phrases, include proverbs, and proverbial expressions, and idiomatic phrases like Daniel Rogers's "No is?" = "Is it not so?," * Holland's (Sueton. 182) "heavy friend" = "foe," and Caxton's "sueh four as" = "four times as many as." And give parallels, where possible, from other languages.
- γ . Under idioms, include disused syntactical combinations like Chapman's "was climbed" = "had climbed," Fuller's "satisfied in" = "satisfied as to," giving parallel instances as in β .
- δ. Under varieties of form, include all such orthographic varieties as tend to throw light on the etymology of a word, to illustrate some law of language (as metathesis), or which are in themselves specially remarkable. Thus 'avowtry' for 'adultery,' 'fersse' for 'fresh,' 'brid' for 'bird,' 'patrone' for 'pattern,' should be registered, while 'wode' for 'wood,' 'sunne' for 'sun,' are unimportant. Also all subforms or nebenformen, as 'awk' for 'awkward,' 'nig' for 'niggard,' and all forms denoting imperfect naturalization, as 'antidotum' for 'antidote,' and 'epoeha' for 'epoeh,' should be registered.
- II. Collectors are further requested to transcribe all passages falling under one or other of the heads following:
 - e. Passages which give an account of, or implicitly serve to mark, the first introduction of a word into the language, or first use of it in an entirely new sense.
 - ζ. Passages which consciously discuss or unconsciously reveal the etymology of a word, or the rationale of a name.
 - η. Passages which contain happy definitions or explanations.
- * "Fornication is no mortal sin because there is no text of Scripture that saith so. 'No is?' What means that then of Paul, Col. iii. 5?"

- 6. Passages which serve to distinguish any word from the synonyms with which it is likely to be confounded, either by felicitous opposition or by avowed discrimination; and which assign to each the province which is properly its own.
- . Passages illustrating the earlier uses which words have now left behind them, and the successive modifications of meaning through which they have passed.

[See Examples, p. 12.]

MECHANICAL AND PRACTICAL REGULATIONS.

- 1. Each word or phrase should be written out with its quotation and reference on a separate half-sheet of note-paper, lengthwise, and on one side of the paper only.*
- [N.B. A ream of common note-paper costs 2s.; this should contain 600 separate sheets and 1200 half-sheets, thus admitting of the registration of 1200 words at a trifling expense.]

It is most earnestly requested that this rule may be strictly and undeviatingly followed, its object being to enable the Editors to sort the various contributions at once into alphabetical groups, and so to prevent the accumulations of matter from becoming unmanageable.

- 2. The edition made use of should be stated once for all by written eommunication to the Secretary, and throughout adhered to; and in the references, page, chapter and section, and verse where existing, should be given.
- 3. An earlier edition of a work should be preferred to one more recent, where choice is practicable;—this, however, is merely intended as a general rule, and must be subject to the circumstances of each particular case.
- 4. In transcribing quotations the original spelling should always be preserved; and when any words are for brevity's sake omitted, the omissions should be designated by dots. Moreover, each quotation should be extensive enough to carry a complete sense by itself: mere fragments of sentences enclosing a particular word are unintelligible and useless, and, in fact, are not quotations at all.
- 5. It is requested that all persons who may feel disposed to undertake any work or works will be kind enough to signify their intention to the Sccretary of the Literary and Historical
- * The exact method of transcription is shown by the specimen given at the back of p. 31.

Committee, and at the same time to mention the name or title of the work or works they may select for investigation, so that two persons may not be engaged in traversing the same ground. Also it is most earnestly requested that all Collectors who have already undertaken to peruse works for the Society, will, at their earliest convenience, forward their contributions to the Secretary, in order that progress may be made in methodizing and arranging the already large mass of material accumulated.

6. All communications for the Literary and Historical Committee are to be addressed to Herbert Coleridge, Esq., at his residence, 10 Chester Place, Regent's Park, N.W.

RULES AND DIRECTIONS FOR COLLECTORS,

as agreed upon by the Etymological Committee.

All persons who may feel desirous of contributing to the Etymological portion of the work are requested to direct their attention specially to the following heads of inquiry:—

1. The etymology of English words hitherto unexplained or wrongly explained.

As many etymologies can only be made to carry conviction to the mind by the collation of numerous instances, collectors will be at liberty to treat words in groups whenever they think that method advantageous.

It is also most important, whenever it can be done, to trace the radical element of each English word into that language where it still possesses vitality. Thus we may trace back our English 'mad' to the Skr. mad to be intoxicated, cf. Skr. madhu wine, mead, μέθυ; 'man' to the Skr. man to think, cf. manu; 'foot' to the Skr. pad to go; 'wind' to the Skr. vá (part. pres. vát, nom. ván, original form vânts) to blow; and 'day,' Skr. diva, to the verb div to shine. The Old-English welk and welew, Germ. welken, to fade or wither, are explained by the Finn walkia white, walawa whitish, walkaista to whiten; compare English walker a fuller or whitener of cloth, Ital. gualeare to full, Finn walkki, fullonium.

2. The formation of lists of English words illustrating the exact value or values, and the history, of the various prefixes and suffixes employed in our language, such as a-, be-, dis-, un-, -ly, -ling, -ing, &c. &c.

CONSTRUCTIONS.

Cleanse with (A.S. wio against) = cleanse from.

"Vor me (the owl) is lof to Cristes huse
To classi hit with fule muse (foul mouse)."

Owl & Nightingale, v. 609. (13th cent.)

I. δ. Nebenformen.

Hank == hanker.

"So frustrate of my purpose I fall into want, and where I hanked after plentie I have runne upon scarcitee."—Letters of Eminent Men (Camden Soc.) p. 71. (13th Sept. 1589.)

IMPERFECT NATURALIZATION.

Automaton.

"The other was the picture of a gentlewoman, whose eies were contrived with that singularitie of cunning, that they moved up and down of themselves, not after a seeming manner, but truly and indeed. For I did very exactly view it. But I believe it was done by a vice [see vis Cotgr.] which the Grecians call αὐτόματον."—Coryat's Crudities, p. 254. (1611.)

"And now because these parts (the movers and the moved) are parts of one whole, we call the entire thing automatum or se movens or a living creature."—Sir Kenelm Digby, of Bodies, c. 23. p. 259. (1669.)

Criterion.

"Lastly, from this philosophy it is also manifest that sense is not the κριτήριον of truth concerning bodies themselves, if confidently pronouncing that these supposed qualities of bodies represented such by sense are merely phantastical things."—Cudworth's Intellectual System, p. 47. (1678.)

Precipice.

"I admired one thing very much in those vineyards, that they should be planted in such wonderful steepe places underneath the hils, where a man would thinke it were almost impossible for a labourer to worke, such is the præcipitium of the hill towards the 'descent.'—Coryat's Crudities, p. 72. (1611.)

II. e. The first introduction of a word, directly or indirectly. Under-carth = subterranean.—For the latter the earliest authority quoted by Richardson is Bacon's Naturall Historie (1627), though it occurs in Burton's Anatomy of Melancholy, Part I. sec. 2. mem. 1. subs. 2. (1621.) "Philip the tetrarch of Trachonitis by casting chaff therein (into the Jordan) which was paid him again at Dan, first found out this under-earth passage."—Purchas's Pilgrims, p. 104, 2nd edit. (1614.)

Tulip.

"And now within these foure years (1578-82) there have been brought into England from Vienna in Austria divers kinds of flowers called Tulipas."—Hakluyt's Voyages, vol. ii. p. 165, ed. 1598.

Humiliate, Civilization.

"I asked him (Johnson) if humiliating was a good word. He said he had seen it frequently used, but he did not know it to be legitimate English. He would not admit civilization, but only civility."—Boswell's Johnson, ætat. 63. (1772.)

II. ζ. Ετγμοροφή or rationale of a name.

Chirurgery.

"Chirurgery, therefore (as Angelus Bolognius in the prologe to his boke of the cure of externall ulcers, sayeth), is the moste aunciente, ye, the moste sure and excellente parte of the arte of medicyne, whiche worketh by handy operation. For the name thereof whiche was geven thereto by moste auncyent authores, signifieth nothynge elsse; for chirurgery is Operatio Manualis, that is, handye worke. Wherfore syth it is a parte of phisike, we can not so rightlye name it in Englishe, as to call it the handye worke of medicine."—1565. John Halle, An Historiall Expostulation, Percy Soc. reprint, 1844, p. 41.

II. η . Definitions or Explanations.

Kerne.

"Kerne [see Macbeth] signifieth (as noble men of deep iudgement informed me) a shower of hell, because they are taken for no better than for rakehels, or the divels blacke gard, by reason of the stinking sturre they keepe, wheresoever they be."—1574. R. Stanihurst, Description of Ireland in Holinshed (2nd edit.), ch. 8.

Insect.

"You may understand by insect, 'life in sections'—diffused generally over the parts."—Coleridge, Table-talk (3rd edit. 1854), p. 62.

II. θ. Synonymous Words.

Symulacres and Ydoles.

"But betweene Symulacres and Ydoles is a gret difference. For Symulacres ben ymages made aftre lyknesse of men or of women, or of the sonne or of the mone, or of ony best, or of ony kyndely thing; and Ydoles is an ymage made of lewed wille of man, that man may not fynden among kyndely thinges; as an ymage, that hathe 4 hedes, on of a man, another of an hors, or of an ox, or of sum other best, that no man hathe seen aftre kyndely disposicioun."—1366. Sir John Maundevile, Voiage and Travaile, reprint, 1839, p. 164.

Keenness and Subtlety.

"Few men of genius are keen, but almost every man of genius is subtle. If you ask me the difference between keenness and subtlety, I answer that it is the difference between a point and an edge. To split a hair is no proof of subtlety, for subtlety acts in distinguishing differences, in showing that two things apparently one are in fact two; whereas to split a hair is to cause division, not to distinguish difference."—Coleridge, Table-talk, p. 148.

Fancy and Imagination.

"The fancy brings together images which have no connection natural or moral, but are yoked together by the poet by means of some accidental coincidence; the imagination modifies images and gives unity to variety; it sees all things in one, il più nell' uno."—Id. ibid. p. 327.

"The funcy sees the outside, and is able to give a portrait of the outside, clear, brilliant, and full of detail.

"The imagination sees the heart and inner nature, and makes them felt; but is often obscure, mysterious, interrupted in its giving of outer detail."—Ruskin, Modern Painters, vol. ii. pp. 157, 158.

II. c. Earlier Meanings.

Undo =preach, expound.

"The Nychodemus to hym [Christ] come
At one tyme by ny;te,
To lerny;

And he ondede hym cristendom." cir. 1320. W. de Shoreham's Poems. Perey Soc. p. 79.

Biddings = commandments.

"In heven shall dwelle alle cristen men That knowe & kepe Goddes byddynges ten." cir. 1450. Speculum Xtiani. (W. de Machlin.)

Paramour (in a good sense).

"To his moder then gan he [Christ] say,
'For this mylke me muste day,
It is myn kynde therwith to play,
My swete moder, myn paramour.'"

Songs and Carols from a 15th cent. MS., Warton Club, 1856, p. 48.

Mr. Rafinesque was a laborious student in almost every conceivable department of knowledge, and only wanted the faculty of judicious discrimination to secure him a distinguished name among men of science. He was of foreign birth, and had been a resident in Sicily, and first travelled in the United States in 1802, 1803, and 1804. Before 1815, he had published a very considerable number of treatises, chiefly upon Natural History, from observations in this country and in Sicily, with others of a more general character. In 1815, he returned to America, and at he misfortune to be sbipwrecked on the coast; losing, according to his own statement, all his "books, manuscripts, plates, drawings, maps, herbarium, collections, minerals, &c., the fruit of twenty years' labours, exertions, and travels." Some of his lost MSS., on Botany, Zoology, Mineralogy, &o., he undertook to re-write, and endeavoured to obtain subscriptions for their publication here. In 1838, he printed an essay introductory to a proposed work, to be entitled "Researches on the Antiquities and Monuments of North and South America." 'He died at Philadelphia, in 1840.
